

FSU Wins Awards from Maryland Charity Campaign

Written by FSU News and Media Services
Tuesday, 02 August 2016 10:26 -

Frostburg State University has won two awards from the Maryland Charity Campaign – the Highest Increase in Monetary Contributions, for the highest increase in monetary contributions amount medium departments, and the Schaefer Cares Award, for most improved participation rate among medium departments. During its fall campaign, FSU collected $11,641 for the year, and its participation rate jumped to 16.3 percent. The University’s Physical Plant, Grounds and Housekeeping departments had the highest participation rate among all units on campus – more than 33 percent.

In the photo are, from left, members of the FSU Maryland Charity Campaign Committee: Sara-Beth Bittinger, director of Assessment and Institutional Research; Kathy Leck, program administrative specialist in the Physical Plant Department; Kim Martz, executive administrative assistant in the Office of Student Affairs; Dr. Tom Bowling, vice president for Student Affairs; Colleen Stump, associate vice president for Communications and Media Relations; Tara

FSU Wins Awards from Maryland Charity Campaign

Written by FSU News and Media Services
Tuesday, 02 August 2016 10:26 -

Strother, executive administrative assistant in the Office of Human Resources; and Dr. Shakil Rahman, a professor in the Department of Management.